

Revi Meicler is a mixed media artist working in Austin, Texas, USA. She studied at the University of Houston and the Glassell School of Art in Houston, TX. Her work concentrates on two principal themes: transformation and energy. Her work is in many private collections as well as several public collections. She is currently represented by Wally Workman Gallery in Austin, Texas.

STATEMENT

My current work seeks to capture transformation and energetic movement. To me, an experience is made by the presence of the invisible energy in each moment. I am interested in capturing the way energy transforms from one thing to another and use color, shape, texture and layering to capture the sense of movement and the letting go that is the essence of existence.
